Oxford Takes Flying Handleap at Long Odds—Hamburg Belle Wins Hand-somely at a Mile—Sidney F. Comes Home Heavily Backed at Sheepshead.

The performance of F. R. Hitchcock's Tangle, regarded as one of the best fillies of the year, in the Autumn Maiden Stakes, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs straightaway, which was run at Sheepshead Bay yesterday afternoon, was a distinct dis-appointment. Tangle was the favorite, although her price went back to 11 to 5 because of the play on H. P. Whitney's Commune, backed down to sevens, together with a big plunge on W. Shields's Ben Hodder, who was hammered from 6 to 1 down to 16 to 5. At the post Tangle seemed inclined to sulk, and in a mixup she was finally kicked on the near foreleg, with the result that she showed an ugly cut near the knee joint after the race This mishap evidently took the heart out of her, for although Shaw used his whip as her, for although Shaw used his whip as soon as the gate went up she refused to run, and it was only through sheer perseverance that the jookey managed to land Tanya's sister in third place. Athlete, 6 to 1, an added starter, made the pace to the bend, where W. M. Sheftel's Blair Athol, 7 to 1, a full brother to Roseben, took command and standing a hard drive won the race by a length in 1.07 1-5. Athlete hung on to the end and beat Tangle half a length, with Commune, who quit at the last furlong, three parts of a length behind. Ben Hodder was outrun from the start. outrun from the start.

Tommy Burns had Handzarra, the favorite.

n the Flying Handicap, for three-year-olds, six furlongs, in several pockets, and she came home next to last. When Preen tired of showing the way, at the half mile pole, Oxford, neglected at 12 to 1, went to the front and won in a gallop by two lengths in 1:14. It was a close fit for the place, Andrew Miller's Incantation, 7 to 1, taking it from T. L. Watt's Don Royal, 20 to 1, by a nose, with H. B. Dur-yea's Dreamer, 4 to 1, a head out of the money. Sydney Paget's Hamburg Belle ran a brilliant race in the mile handicap. With 124 pounds and conceding lumps of weight to the others, the noted mare was a hot favorite at 7 to 10, and she made good, too, by taking the lead in the first hundred yards and carrying it to the end, where she was breezing with three lengths to spare in 1:40 4-5. Mike Clancy's Tommy Waddell, a 30 to 1 shot, nipped the place from James R. Keene's Von Tromp, 10 to 1, who would have been second sure had little Myers kept his head. Monsieur Beaucaire, after a poor beginning, closed strong and was a head back.

Newton Bennington's Sidney F., pounded Newton Bennington's Sidney F., pounded down to 9 to 10 favorite, captured the first race, for two-year-olds, six furlongs, Futurity course, in easy style. O'Nell brought him from behind in the last quarter and he quickly settled the controversy by winning by a length and a half in 1:14. Peter Wimmer's Larabie, 4 to 1, who led most of the way, was second, three parts of a length before R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s. Nostromo, 8 to 1. James R. Keene's True Love, a filly by Commando, was prominent early, but was evidently short.

Only a fair lot of three-year-olds have been named for the Dolphin Stakes, nine furlongs, to be run at Sheepshead Bay track this afternoon. Wright Meets Larned, and Collins Plays Hobart in All Comers' Semi-Finals. NEWPORT, Aug. 28. - Only four players of national tennis tournament remain in the running, and these will appear in the semifinals to-morrow, they being paired as fol-lows. Collins vs. Hobert and Wright vs. Larned. The latter match is slated for the championship court, and whoever wins it should be the opponent of the champion. championship court, and whoever wins it should be the opponent of the champion, as in all probability either Wright or Larned will have little trouble in disposing of the winner in the upper half in the all comers' match. Considerable money changed hands over to-day's match between Wright and Clothier, not on the question of winning, but on the showing which Clothler was thought to be able to make, his friends maintaining that the Pennsylvania man would win at least one set from his renowned antagonist.

Beals C. Wright abundantly justified the faith which his friends reposed in him by sending down to defeat in straight sets William J. Clothier, in the fifth round, thereby entering the semi-finals. It was a disastrous defeat for Clothier, who has been rated as one of the stars in the list. It was only in the first set that Clothier put up any sort of a game, but he beat himself and was very erratio and wild. In the last two sets Wright outplayed him and was too fast for him.

The match between Clarence Hobart and Richard Stevens resulted in a reversal of the verdict at Southampton when Stevens defeated Hohart, who won to-day, although he dropped the first set. His win occasioned a mild sort of surprise in some quarters, but it is regarded as not likely to make any difference in the outcome, for Collins, who beat J. D. E. Jones, the Rhode Island champion, to-day, would be likely to defeat either Stevens or Hobart in the semi-finals. William A. Larned had no difficulty in disposing of Carl H. Behr, whom he took into camp in three straight sets. The summary of the day's play was as follows:

All Comers' Singles—Fifth round—Kreigh Collins beat J. D. E. Jones, 7-6, 6-7, 6-3, 6-1; Clarence Hobart beat Richard Stevens, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2; 6-1; 6-2. 6-2; William A. Larned beat Carl H. Behr, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1; Clothier, 9-7, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

WESTERN FILLY BREAKS A LEG AND IS DESTROYED.

Accident Happens in a Jam in the Last Race — Hildebrand in Temperary Disfavor With the Whitney Stable —Some Operations in the Betting Ring.

Loretta M., a three-year-old black filly. by Pirate of Pensance—Fertile, winner of a number of stakes in the West, including the Ascot Oaka, met her fate in the last race yesterday at the Bay. Running in the name of M. H. Tichenor, the Chicago horseman, and ridden by W. Buchanan, she was well layed with Western and restrict the state of the sta played by the Western speculators at 6 to 1. The race had not been under way a sixteenth of a mile when the filly got into a rough jam opposite the paddock, where she was not only knocked to her knees, but both boots were cut off. Buchanan got her out of her predicament as quickly as possible and sent her after the others as well as he knew how. The the others as well as he knew now. The filly ran on three legs with remarkable courage until she had completed the journey up the backstretch, when the jockey suddenly realized that something was wrong with his mount and pulled her up. A crowd of stable hands rushed up and found that Loretta M. had broken her off foreleg and was in a hopeless condition. Her trainer also made an examination, but it disclosed the fact that the filly's racing career was at an end, so she examination, but it disclosed the fact that the filly's racing career was at an end, so she was soon led away and killed in order to end her suffering. There was plenty of rough riding in this event, the mare Don't task Me, who ran third, being kicked at the post and later knocked about in such a manner that her performance under the circumstances was remarkable.

Jockey Eugene Hildebrand is in temporary disfavor with the Whitney stable. When Jug-gler was scratched from the Autumn Stakes O'Neill was put up on Commune in the Whitney silks. Hildebrand, upon whose services the stable has second call, did not have a mount in the race and could not tell the reason why he had been supplanted by O'Neill. While Trainer Rogers refused to discuss the matter, there was a story in circulation that Hildebrand had been disciplined for working Timber too fast in a trial for the Futurity. It was also said that he had dis-obeyed orders by whipping Timber in Saturcredited, for as one man put it:

"If a boy is not expected to use the whip in a race for $33,000, when is he expected to use it?"
Hildebrand was evidently wrought up over the incident, for he kept away from Rogers the rest of the afternoon.

A rumor was current, although it could not be beiled down to facts, that Clarence H. Mackay might transfer his stallions and brood mares to a "maiden" farm in Ken-tucky this fall. It was said that Mr. Mackay had received strong inducements to make the change, although he has an option on Silver Brook Farm, over in New Jersey, until Nov. 1, which he has not yet closed. It is understood that Mr. Mackay also has a lease of part of the old Monmouth Park race to use for his breeding establishment.

As an illustration of how the smart players sometimes receive a scalding, M. L. Hay-man, on his way to the betting ring before the races yesterday, displayed a large roil of money, including many $1,000 bills, which he said would be used in settling wages he had made for various persons on First Mason in the last event on Saturday. Hayman went from book to book not long afterward making good markers, and he got rid of more than $25,000, too.

The success of the layers on Saturday, by the way, prompted others who did not book on that occasion to get in line yesterday, with the result that the number exceeded those who quoted prices on the Futurity. In all there were ninety members of the Meta eighty outsiders in the back line and 134 in the field, a grand total of 314 books inside the enclosure. But as the crowd was about one-third the size of the assemblage of Saturday, the books did not do nearly such a rushing business. No sooner had the speculation on the first race begun than it was discovered that in the absence of Mike Minden a number of men were booking in his name. The big men of the Mets, however, quickly put a stop to this, in accordance with one of their rules which compels each member to be present on his stool before the prices can be offered. eighty outsiders in the back line and 134 put a stop to this, in accordance with one of their rules which compels each member to be present on his stool before the prices can be offered.

There was a heavy play on Sidney F. in the opening event, such operators as Charles Head Smith, Sol Lichtenstein, John Coleman, Jesse Lewisohn, Joe Hayman, George Wheelock and Dave Johnson betting amounts of not less than $2,000 on the colt. Eddie Burke played Larable, while Jack McDonald and Joe Rose spread big money across the board on Third Alarm.

Dave Johnson headed the support accorded to Hamburg Belle in the second race with a second. Wheelock and Dave Joanson betting amounts of not less than $2,000 on the colt. Eddie Burke played Larable, while Jack McDonald and Joe Rose spread big money across the board on Third Alarm.

Dave Johnson headed the support accorded to Hamburg Belle in the second race with a $10,000 commission. The Lichtensteins, Leo Mayer and Joe Hayman also bet heavily on the mare, with Wheelock putting $1,500 on Cirapple.

Mayer and Joe Hayman also bet heavily on the mare, with Wheelock putting $1,500 on Grapple.

Jack McDonald laid against Tangle in the third event. Blair Athol's triumph in this race enabled John Walters, the well known clubhouse commissioner, to take fully $20,000 from the ring. Fred Johnson also played Blair Athol as did Bud May, W. M. Scheftel affd Jack Bennet. Dave Johnson and Joe Rose lost levisthan wagers on Ben Hodder, with Commune backed by William Jackman and Athlete supported by Julius Frank.

Gideon and Lewisohn, who usually bet on the colt, allowed Ozford to win the Flying Handicap without placing a dollar on him. As he closed at 15 and 20 to 1, these shrewd operators regarded his triumph with considerable chagrin. Handzarra was played by Eddie Burke, Coleman, Bill Porter and Sol Lichtenstein, with Lee Mayer betting $2,500 on Dreamer and heavy commissions placed on incantation, straight and place, by Torn Costigan and Walters.

Dave Johnson, who was the biggest better of the day, dropped a $10,000 bundle on Oliver Cromwell in the fifth race. This horse was tipped an hour before the first race as a sure thing and pearly every operator at the track got aboard, including Sol Lichtenstein and Joe Rose. He was finally pounded down to 5 to 5, while at the poet Wheelock split a good wager on Banker and Leo Mayer played Deshon, getting as much as 30 to 1 for some of his wealth.

While Telephone, the winner of the last race, was backed down to 8 to 1, few of the best known players had a plece of the good thing, as they went to The Lady Rohesia and to Loretta M. Telephone's owner. Bob Smith, was once the manager of Frank Erne, the pugilist.

There was a rather long delay at the post before the second race was started. These best known players had a piece of the good thing, as they went to The Lady Robesia and to Loretta M. Telephone's owner. Bob Smith, was once the manager of Frank Erne, the puglist.

There was a rather long delay at the post before the second race was started. Those who were near the barrier said that a starter's assistant struck Norbury over the head repeatedly with the butt end of his bull whip. Monsieur Beaucairs tried to bolt into the lower turn when he reached it in the race and Burns kept in the saddle with difficulty.

Bud Meyer would have had a fat roli if Tommy Waddell had beaten Hamburg Belle. The rotund turfman had $200 on to win at 40 to 1 and $1,000 third at fours, so that he had enough to pay for mext winter's coal, to say the least.

Boots Durnell was standing in the paddock talking to Enoch Wishard between races when a weil known baseball crank stopped near him and exclaimed:

"Why isn't Clark Griffith out West with the New York Americans?"

He pointed to Durnell as he spoke but a friend quickly disclosed Boots's identity. Durnell would be taken anywhere for Griffith's twin brother.

The Metropolitan Turf Association will hold a special meeting some time to-day, the purpose of which is not known at present. Italian Joe Marrone was exceedingly lucky in picking and playing long shots during the afternoon. He backed Blair Athol at 7 to 1, then went to Oxford at 12 to 1, and finally cashed a bet of $1,000 to $50 on Suffice in the fifth event.

Because of his unruly behavior at the post in the Flying Hardicap with Dan Royal Jocky Aubuchon was suspended for six days by Starter Cassidy. Don Royal, Cairngorm and Incantation were added starters in this race, the previous winners of which were Cactas, Domino, Reydel, Carreros, Refugee, Casseopia, Bendoran, Toluca, Vulcain, Dublin, Hatasoo, Shot Gun and Broomstick.

Previous winners of the Autumn Maiden Stakes were Economist, The Sage, Silver II. Sunny Slope, Lady Marian, Duke of Middleburgh, Edin Conig, Klug Lief, Arsenal, Parisienne, Ormonde's Right and Wo

To-day's conditions were easily the best that the 650 competitors have faced in the four days contest. The wind was moderate and the light good. Early in the day Gen. Hall announced that in the second skirmish run only the 96 leaders would be allowed to compete, and the match management was thus enabled to close the competition at 350 o'clock.

FOGLER-BEDELL LAP FIELD. New York and Besten Divide Honors in Amateur Cycle Races.

Joe Fogler and John Bedell woke up the crowd at Madison Square Garden last night by stealing a lap on their opponents in the twenty mile open professional. Iver Law-son had just won the mile handicap from scratch in very fast time and did not ride in the twenty mile event. Kramer's name was down on the program for both of the professional events, but he failed to show up. riding because he had broken his bicycle in the afternoon was received with derisive jeers and shouts of "He's afraid of Lawson." For some unknown reason none of the Newark amateurs competed, though many of them had entered. Keither Lawson nor Kramer started in the big twenty mile open, but twelve others did, among them being McFarland, Fenn and among them being McFarland, Fenn and Hobo King of six 'day race fame. Krebs seemed to think he was going to win the first five dollar mile prize, but Fenn and Root flashed by Herr Krebs. Root trailed Fenn until there was but half a lap to go, when he outsprinted Fenn and finished shead of him by half a length. Fenn theri had to reuntil there was out hair a lap to yo, when he outsprinted Fenn and finished ahead of him by half a length. Fenn then had to retire on account of a punctured tire. Dorlon won the second mile without much opposition. Root looked like a sure winner of the third $5. but Schreiber took it away from him. Little Dorlon won another five by finishing first when the fourth mile was ended. John Bedell started a long sprint for the fifth mile special prize, and Fogler tacked on behind. The Lynbrook rider had such a good lead when he looked around for the others that he started out to try for a lap. He and Fogler kept going, and by changing pace managed to gain a lap on the others before the end of the sixth mile, when John Bedell was leading. McFarland dropped out in the seventh mile. With McFarland out, there was no one to create any disturbance, so John Bedell and Fogler took turns at winning the mile prizes in a most peaceable manner. George Schreiber tried a little sprint all by himself during the fourteenth mile, but he picked an inauspicious moment.

Fogler was leading at the time, while John Bedell was just behind him, andwhen Schrieber sprinted past the two leaders they lost very little time before they started after the former amateur "Indoor King." They caught him in a lap and a half. Root created quite a bit of excitement just before the end of the nineteenth mile by making a great jump. Root is a wonderfully fast sprinter and had gained a third of a lap before Fogler concluded to go after him.

Fogler overhauled Root after a hard ride of a third of a mile. John Bedell took no chances as the end of the race approached, but went up to the front, with brother Menus trailing along behind. When Fogler saw how much ground he would have to cover before he could give John Bedell battle he just kept going so as to be sure of second; will-tam J. Baringer. New York, third. CHAMPIONS CRUSH CARDINALS

SLASHING STICK WORK BY NEW YORK BATTERS.

Triples, Homers and Doubles Come in a Hunch-Brooklyns Bring Serrow to the Reds, Pirates Defeat Quakers and Chicagos Are Too Much for Bostons.

The tail end in the National League changed hands yesterday. It passed into the keeping of the Bostons, who were defeated by the Chicagos at the same time that the Brooklyns were defeating the Cincinnatis. The New Yorks won easily from St. Louis, and the Pizates downed the slumping Quakers.

day and also outclassed them in a game that was saved from being dull by the ball breaking hitting of the New Yorks. The St. Louis men played a mechanical, lack-luster game, and even in the first inning, when the first three batters made base hits, did not appear to be enthusiastic over the outlook. three batters made base hits, did not appear to be enthusiastic over the outlook. Mathewsea was their master at all stages, and they would have been shut out but for a base on balls and a fumble by Strang. There was not much doing in the first three innings, but in the fourth the New Yorks began a batting foray on the Thielman preserves and devastated the latter for a supply of plaglesthat were rich in quantity and quality. Long line hits, with the ball headed for the ropes, gave the St. Louis outfielders much leg exercise. The ball went so fast several times that the same St. Louis outfielders would have saved distance and breath had they chased straight out instead of cutting across in vain endeavors to head the ball off. What they could not do in the heading off with their hands they tried to do with their feet, but the pedal fielding was no more successful than the hand work.

Four Cardinals reached first base in the first inning, but done reached the promised land. After Dunleavy singled, Shannon's smash glanced off Mathewson's hand. Deving stabbed the ball up, but could not get Shannon. However, he did better than that, making a quick throw to Strang, who tagged Dunleavy, who had overrun second. It was a sharp and quick witted play, the sort that teams of championship stuff make. Smoot curved a safe one to-center, Strang disposed of Reckley, Shay walked and filled the apertures, and McBride hit azureward, with Dahlen the magnet that attracted the ball on its return to earth.

After forcing Mertes in the second and going to second on a wild pitch, the usually clearheaded Dahlen let his wits go wool gathering. He ran to third on Deviln's fly to Smoot and was doubled. That was a play that teams of championship stuff do not make often. Burke made a clever play in the third. Bowerman doubled, and Mathewson drove a jumper to Burke. The latter after getting the ball on, a mean bound slapped it on Bowerman.

New York's batting in the fourth dased a single along the green central sward. This made three runs, and D

An interesting, but somewhat loosely played game between the Cincinnatis and Brooklyns at Washington Park yesterday was won by the Brooklyns, who got off with a big lead, were overtaken, then went to the front again and stayed there. Two pitchers were swatted to the bench. Four hits and three errors enabled the Reds to make six runs in the fourth inning and take the lead, but the tailenders were not dismayed. They struck a hitting streak in the eighth and won then and there. Lumley was the star batsman. of the day with three singles and a home run. The score:

Ninth Inning Defeat for the New Yorks in Cleveland.

Third place is not as near at hand for the New York Americans as it was a few days ago. They lost to the Clevelands again yesterday. The Washingtons took some of the inflation out of the Chicagos, and the Philadelphias improved their lead by winning in Detroit. The results:

CLEVELAND, Aug. 28.—A double steal and Hesa's avoirdupois figured materially in Cleveland's victory to-day over the New Yorks, Of course the big German's pitching and the Naps' brilliant fielding were also factors, but the ofer features came at the eleventh hour and therefore stands out most prominently. The score was a tie when the Naps came to bat in the ninth. Jackson singled and went to assend on Turner's out. singled and went to second on Turner's out. Clarke walked and, with Hess up, both pulled singled and went to second on Turner's out. Clarke walked and, with Hess up, both pulled off the double steal. Hess then poked a grounder at Chesbro, who, turning to third with his arm uplifted, chased Jackson back to the bag. Then he shot the ball to Conrey, who had to stretch himself to pull in the wide throw. Hess bumped into him, sending him off his balance, and before he could recover Jackson had crossed the plate.

Cleveland chased Orth off the rubber in the seventh, after Jackson had soored on his double, Turner's sacrifice, Clarke's out and Hess's double, Chesbro succeeding him. The sixth practically sounded Orth's death knell. Clarke walked and Bay singled, both scoring on Filck's double. The later scored on a steal and Bradley's single. Hess did not allow a hit for six innings. In the seventh Keeler and Elberfeld singled and scored on Williams's double. A sacrifice and Conroy's single sent Williams home and Conroy counted on Bay's error, a passed ball and a wild pitch.

Isajoe celebrated his readvent into the game by playing first base, but failed to distinguish himself either at the bag or at bat. The shaking up of the batting order worked well. The score:
